I recently had a client that was struggling with the /t/ and /d/ sounds and realized I have not yet covered these on Mommy Speech Therapy, so I thought I'd share some thoughts on how to teach these sounds. I have grouped these sounds together because they are produced in the same manner and place. The only difference

One of the most common questions I hear from parents is "How much language should my child be using for their age?" As our children grow up, there are certain "communication milestones" that we can watch for which will help us know how they are developing. I thought it would be helpful to go over some of these briefly.

Today I'm excited to share something I've been meaning to post for quite some time. It's a set of fun & colorful BLANK monthly calendars! Last year when I created my dated monthly calendar, I realized that I had a constant need for a blank calendar. I found myself printing out copies of my calendars for all kinds of reasons - for planning projects, keeping track of blogging deadlines, meal ...

Over the past couple of weeks I've been working on a few new items for my shop and also trying to de-stash some of my yarn. I've been able to donate a ton of yarn that I felt that I wouldn't use to two charities that are really in need of yarn. I've been crocheting up a storm and I've been writing everything down but now I finally have a chance to post one of the projects I've been working on ...

Hey Friends! Today, I am going to share with you a DIY Paper Pennant Banner Tutorial to be used for a party or in your everyday decor! I created this paper banner for extra decor in my daughtersâ€™ Cozy Reading Corner. This fun bunting took about about 30 minutes to put together, with most materials I already had on hand (I ran to the dollar store for a hole punchâ€¦ lol).
